

Center for Slavic and East European Studies

University of California
Berkeley, California
94720

Newsletter

RECEIVED

OCT 14 1993

LIBRARY - P. A. O. I.

Fall, 1993
Vol. 11 No. 1

In This Issue:

Notes from the Chair.....	page 1
History of the Slavic Center at UC Berkeley.....	page 2
New courses and workshops.....	page 3
Faculty and scholar news.....	page 4
Student and alumni news.....	page 6
Calendar of Events.....	page 8
News for Center Associates.....	page 10
Fall Course Listings.....	page 12
Recent Publications of faculty and scholars.....	page 13
Fellowships and other opportunities.....	page 14
To order publications.....	page 16

Art in this issue is selected from the 1992 publication,
Cheese and Honey: Folk
Tale Selections From the Slavic Center.

Notes From the Chair

The 1993-94 academic year has begun! The faculty, students, and staff of the Center are gearing up for another year of scholarly research, exchange, and disputation regarding a most turbulent area of the world. As you will notice from merely glancing through this Newsletter, the Center has the mission of facilitating and selectively organizing these intellectual adventures by sponsoring visiting scholars, guest lectures, symposia, workshops, conferences, publications, and innovative courses; by raising funds for fellowships and grants, library acquisitions, and language instruction; by maintaining a most valuable reading room of newspapers and journals from the area; and by coordinating the informational needs of scores of faculty, hundreds of graduate students, and thousands of undergraduates who study our area, and who are affiliated with more than one dozen departments and professional schools. This is an immense responsibility, which we undertake with enthusiasm, intellectual excitement, and pride. To the extent that all this is accomplished smoothly, it is entirely thanks to the professionalism and dedication of the Slavic Center staff.

The future of the Center is a bright one. In recent years, the University has appointed nine new faculty in our area: Mel Gordon, Liza Knapp, Olga Matich, Irina Paperno, Eric Naiman, Anne Nesbet, Yuri Slezkine, Richard Taruskin, and Alan Timberlake. They join a star-studded cast of faculty members already at Berkeley. Together, the stature and energy of our large faculty -- and of the graduate students they attract -- will ensure the continuing strength and leadership of Slavic and East European Studies at UC Berkeley.

Our financial base is also growing stronger. We are close to completing a capital campaign with a goal of 2.65 million dollars in endowment. If we raise an additional $289,000 by December 31 of this year, we will receive a "matching" contribution of $100,000 from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, which will put us "over-the-top." It has been almost six years since we began our endowment campaign with a much-appreciated challenge grant from the Mellon Foundation. I can hardly believe we have come this far. It is so gratifying to me to know that the activities of the Center are being placed on a strong financial foundation. Barring a collapse of University and governmental funding for the Center, area faculty and students can look forward to having the means to pursue their scholarly dreams well into the 21st century. Any assistance you can provide to our going "over-the-top" will be immensely appreciated.

We wish you all the best for a healthy and exciting academic year. I look forward to seeing many of you at Center functions.

George W. Breslauer
Center Chair

Notes From Ned Walker, Executive Director of the Berkeley-Stanford Program

Welcome to all new students and welcome back to all returning students in this, the second year of the post-Soviet era (PSE). I trust everyone had a rewarding summer and that those of you who spent it in the former Soviet Union ate well and returned safely.

This is my first year as Executive Director of the Program and I hope very much that I can contribute to its continuing successes. I succeed Andy Kuchins, who is now Program Officer for the MacArthur Foundation's "Initiative in the Former Soviet Union." Having been a supplicant, Andy is now a donor, so we all have to be particularly nice to him when he returns for a visit. We wish him well!

continued on page 15

PROCESSED

JUN 08 2006

GTU LIBRARY

History of Slavic and East European Studies at Cal

Dusting off some of the archival material on Slavic and East European Studies at Cal, we have found a few gems of history.

It was in 1872 that one of the University founders started it all by providing for the endowment of a chair of Oriental languages and literature. Mr. Edward Tompkins stated his reasoning:

"It is of the utmost consequence to California that the means shall be provided to instruct our young men, preparing for lives of business activity, in the languages of Eastern Asia."
(from Asiatic and Slavic Studies on the Berkeley Campus: 1896-1947, University of California Press, Berkeley and Los Angeles, p. 3).

Professor John Fryer was appointed to the chair in 1896. His program of instruction in the languages of the Far East began to expand three years later, when Benjamin Ide Wheeler became President of the University. President Wheeler's first step was to extend the range of the studies to the Slavic field. It was actually in 1901 that the Slavic program was started with the appointment of Dr. George Rapall Noyes to offer courses in Slavic language. In the History Department, Dr. Thomas R. Bacon began offering courses in Slavic history in that same year. By the turn of the century, Cal had planted the seeds for the area studies program the Center represents today.

In 1901, Dr. Noyes began the Department of Slavic Languages with instruction in Russian, Polish, and Czech (Bohemian). In 1916, courses were added in Serbo-Croatian and Old Church Slavic. Faculty were added to the Department, including Dr. Alexander S. Kaun in 1917; Dr. George Z. Patrick in 1921; Dr. Oleg A. Maslenikov in 1939; Dr. Wacław Lednicki in 1944; and Professor Gleb Struve in 1946.

Beginning in 1946, George A. Lipsky offered courses in Russian political theory and government within the Department of Political Science, launching the area specialization in that field. Other departments progressively included courses on the area. For example, in 1947, the History Department offered the History of Central Europe. Beginning in 1946, George A. Lipsky offered courses in Russian political theory and government within the Department of Political Science, launching the area specialization in that field. Other departments progressively included courses on the area. For example, in 1947, the History Department offered the History of Central Europe and the Near East (History 147A-147B), taught by Robert J. Kerner. George V. Lantzeff taught History 149A-149B, The History of Russia and Poland to the Crimean War -- to be followed by History 150A- 150B, The History of Russia and Poland since the Crimean War (offered by Mr.

Kerner). Mr. Lantzeff also taught courses on Russian civilization and Russian Asia. Although some of the Ph.D.'s from the period 1920-1947 stayed on at Cal to teach (such as George Lantzeff who received his Ph.D. in history in 1938), others went elsewhere. Some, as we know, went to Stanford, like Wayne S. Vucinich, whose Ph.D. in history was awarded by Cal in 1941.

In 1948, with the assistance of the Rockefeller Foundation, the Institute of Slavic Studies was established by The Regents. The Institute was state-wide in scope and functioned on several campuses. A doctorate in Slavic Studies was established at that time, administered by the Institute. The director of the Institute was Robert J. Kerner. Additions to the Academic Staff for 1949-1950 included Dr. Charles Jelavich, appointed Instructor in Southeastern and Balkan History at Berkeley. The "Announcement" of the Institute of Slavic Studies for 1949-50 lists affiliated faculty in departments of Economics, Geography, History, Political Science, and Slavic Languages and Literature.

The Institute offered fellowship support to graduate students beginning in 1948. Academic year 1950-1951 marked the first year that research assistantships were offered to qualified graduate students in the area. In 1957, the Center for Slavic and East European Studies succeeded the Institute of Slavic Studies. And today, almost forty years later, the Center for Slavic and East European Studies continues the tradition of fellowships and research assistantships which benefit both students and faculty in the field.

Slavic Center Fall Reception

The Center will host its annual Fall reception Thursday, September 30, 4:00 - 6:00 pm in the lounge of the Alumni House on the UC Berkeley Campus. In addition to the excellent food, and conversation with old friends and new acquaintances, there will be East European music and song offered by Westwind International Folk Ensemble. The Company, recently returned from its second performance tour of Eastern Europe, will mingle in authentic ethnic dress with the guests of the Center, and will be pleased to answer questions about the tour.

Prof. George Breslauer, Center Chair, will make introductions, and he and the staff will be happy to discuss Center programming and plans for the academic year. Please join the faculty and staff of the Center for this festive annual gathering!

The Slavic Center Announces a New Course Offering

Eastern Europe and the USSR: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow, International & Area Studies 1, is designed to engage undergraduates in our world area. Needless to say, Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union continue to dominate in the media. The region bursts with opportunities to be seized, and challenges to be grappled with by future generations of US scholars and professionals. The nurturing of internationally minded students is of primary concern to the Center. Thus, Eastern Europe and the USSR: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow, was born. The course is offered through International and Area Studies (perhaps the most innovative organization in terms of teaching programs) within its series "The Berkeley Forum on the International World."

Eastern Europe and the USSR: Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow will showcase the strength of the Berkeley faculty and graduate students in this region, introducing it to a body of students who might not otherwise get the opportunity because of specific majors and/or study programs. Topics to be presented are those very much in the news today: the transition to a free market from centralized planning; nationalities conflicts; privatization processes; challenges and crises in cultural values and identities. These issues will be examined within the cultural and historical framework that is particular to each region. Each week, a guest speaker will deal with his or her area of current research. Following each lecture, the students will have an opportunity to ask questions and discuss the issues with the lecturer and among themselves. Questions about the course can be directed to Barbara Voytek (643-6736).

Branko Horvat Appointed Regents' Lecturer for 1993-94

The Center is especially pleased to announce that the Chancellor chose its candidate, Dr. Branko Horvat, distinguished economist, to be among the Regents' Lecturers for 1993-94. Professor Ben Ward initiated the process which involves extensive review of applicants. The Department of Economics is the host department.

Dr. Horvat will be teaching Economics 215C: Topics in Political Economy. His course, titled Transition to a Market Economy in Eastern Europe, will examine the current problems in East European economies from an historical, political, and economic viewpoint. The course will consider the origin of "etatism," socialism, and modern nationalism in Eastern Europe, the comparative efficiency of economic systems, and issues in self-management and privatization in Russia, Eastern Europe, and the former Yugoslavia. Dr. Horvat's expertise for this course is unmatched. We are all looking forward to his appointment.

Dissertation Workshops

Graduate Division, International and Area Studies (IAS) and the College of Natural Resources at Berkeley has initiated a series of dissertation workshops in The Political Economy of Development, The Politics of the Environment, History and Identities, States, Communities, and Economies, and other broad topic areas. These three-day comparative workshops are held off-campus and are designed to bring together graduate students working on related topics in diverse areas of the world, in the social sciences, humanities, and professional schools. For further information, contact David Szanton, Executive Director of IAS, at 2-5284.

Newsletter

of the Center for Slavic and East European Studies, University of California at Berkeley. 361 Stephens Hall, UC Berkeley
Berkeley, CA 94720 510/642-3230

Editor: Barbara Voytek

Managing Editor: Mary Kay Stuvland 510/643-6205

We regret that our regular newsletter editor, Anne Hawkins, is temporarily on leave; we anticipate her return with the Winter issue. The newsletter is published quarterly during the academic year. Please send suggestions, corrections, or inquiries to the editor at the above address. Submit mailing address changes to the Center, Attn: Newsletter Mailing List; or, call the Center at the above number.

Faculty and Scholar News

RESEARCH AND AWARDS

Victoria Bonnell, Professor of Sociology, is co-editing a volume on the response to the 1991 August coup in the former Soviet Union, with Ann Cooper of National Public Radio and Gregory Freidin, Stanford University. Entitled, Russia at the Barricades, the volume provides eyewitness accounts of the event (forthcoming from M. E. Sharpe).

Michael Burawoy has received a National Science Foundation Grant to support his research from 1992 to 1995, as well as a MacArthur Foundation Grant for 1993. His research deals with the transition from state socialism to capitalism in Russia.

Mel Gordon, Professor of Dramatic Art, was invited by the European Mime Federation at the Akademie der Kunst to participate in a conference on "biomechanics" in Berlin, May 1993.

Joan Grossman, Professor emeritus in Slavic Languages and Literatures, was awarded an NEH grant for 1992-93 for her research project, Ivan Konevskoi and the Roots of Russian Modernism.

Eric Naiman, Assistant Professor in Slavic and Comparative Literature, was Visiting Research Fellow at the Hoover Institution 1992-1993. He holds a Postdoctoral Research Fellowship from the Social Science Research Council and the American Council of Learned Societies.

Anne Nesbet, Assistant Professor of Slavic Languages and Literatures, was appointed an American Cultures Fellow at UC Berkeley for 1993.

Irina Paperno, Associate Professor of Slavic Languages and Literatures, was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for research on her project, Suicide as a Cultural Institution in Modern Russia.

Ruth E. Tringham, Professor of Anthropology, is launching a new joint US-Bulgarian archaeological project. She spent the month of July in Bulgaria with several graduate students preparing for the excavation of an Eneolithic tell.

Reginald E. Zelnik, Professor of History, was recently awarded a Humanities Research Fellowship for 1993-94.

NEW FACULTY

Liza Knapp joins the Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures as an Assistant Professor. After receiving her Ph.D. from Columbia, Dr. Knapp taught at several prestigious universities, including our own. She was recently awarded an NEH Fellowship for her work on "The Metaphysics of Physics in the Fiction of Dostoevsky."

Olga Matich is beginning her tenure as Professor in the Department of Slavic Languages and Literature. She received a Ph.D. at the University of California, Los Angeles, in 1969, and then began a long and distinguished teaching career at the University of Southern California. Professor Matich was recently awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship, a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship and an IREX grant for work on her book, Russia's Erotic Utopia (1890-1930).

SCHOLARS IN RESIDENCE

Donna L. Bahry, Professor of Political Science at the University of California, Davis, will be Visiting Professor in the Department of Political Science during the fall semester. Professor Bahry will be teaching Poli Sci 141A and conducting a Berkeley-Stanford Program

Seminar. Professor Bahry received her Ph.D. in Political Science at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Her areas of specialization include politics and public policy in the USSR and Post-Soviet States; comparative public policy and political economy; and East European politics. Her book, Outside Moscow: Power, Politics and Budgetary Policies in the Soviet Republics, is highly regarded as a study of the non-Russian republics that predates the disintegration of the USSR.

Branko Horvat, is Regents' Lecturer for Fall 1993. Dr. Horvat is a major figure in the world of socialist economics. For years he was Professor of Economics at the University of Zagreb and a Senior Research Associate of the Institute of Economics in Zagreb. He was also actively involved in government in Yugoslavia over the past quarter century, having served for several years as the Director of the Bureau of Long-term Planning in Belgrade, as well as in other posts. He frequently led research teams engaged in consulting projects for both the Yugoslav Federal and the Croatian Republic governments.

Among Dr. Horvat's principal works are The Political Economy of Socialism: A Marxist Social Theory (M. E. Sharpe 1982); Business Cycles in Yugoslavia (International Art and Sciences Press, 1971); The Yugoslav Economic System: the First Labor-Managed Economy in the Making (International Art and Sciences Press, 1976); and Towards a Theory of Planned Economy (Yugoslav Institute of Economic Research, 1969). Dr. Horvat will be teaching course 215C in the Economics Department during the fall. As Regents' Lecturer, he will address the University community on November 4, 1993 (see Calendar).

Shuichi Kojima, Professor of Economic History at Konan University, Japan, is a Research Associate of the Center for Slavic and East European Studies during academic year 1993-94. Professor Kojima was a Research Associate of the Center in 1989-90. His research deals with the history of agricultural economics in Russia.

Tea Petrin, Professor of Economics, University of Ljubljana, is a Visiting Scholar at the Institute of International Studies for academic year 1993-94. Professor Petrin is at Berkeley on a Fulbright scholarship.

Jasminka Sohinger, Assistant Professor, Faculty of Economics at Zagreb University, will be a Visiting Professor of Economics at Berkeley for the 1993-94 academic year. Dr. Sohinger will teach a spring semester course in the Department of Economics.

Vedrana Spajic, Associate Professor, Department of Education, University of Zagreb. Professor Spajic is a scholar in the field of Pedagogical Anthropology (anthropology of education). She will be doing her research at Berkeley, affiliated with the Department of Anthropology, during the fall semester.

David Dirkwen Wei, Instructor at the Wen Tzao Ursuline College of Modern Languages, Taiwan, will be the first Fellow in the Republic of China-University of California, Berkeley, cooperative program in Slavic and East European Studies. The focus of his research is Russian language teaching and the organization of Russian Studies programs in the United States.

Below: illustration by Anne Hawkins, for Jenny & Jenik, A Czech Folk Tale.

Student and Alumni News

Kudos are in order for many of the graduate students and alumni in the field of Slavic and East European Studies who have recently received fellowships and awards. Below is a listing which illustrates the strength of our programs at UC Berkeley!

Fellowship Competition Results

Berkeley graduate students who deserve special praise for their fine performance in national and University fellowship competitions include the following. Congratulations to all.

1993-4 FLAS awards

Each spring, Graduate Division announces the Foreign Language and Area Studies fellowship competitions. Grad Division administers the fellowships which are funded by a major grant awarded to the Center by the Department of Education. Contact the Division or the Center in late Fall for information and guidelines. The following students received FLAS awards for 1993-94.

Summer Language Training, 1993

Laura Lee Adams (Sociology)
Matthew Baerman (Slavic)
Anne Clunan (Political Science)
John Leslie (Political Science)
Ann McDevitt (Slavic)
Larry McLellan (Slavic)
John Mock (South & Southeast Asian Studies)
Mark O'Malley (Geography)
David Schneider (Music)
Valerie Sperling (Political Science)
Steven Swayne (Music)

Academic Year, 1993-94

Elzbieta Benson (Sociology)
Genevieve Gerard (History)
James Hamon (Sociology)
Edward Kountz (Journalism)
Gregory Moynahan (History)
Mark O'Malley (Geography)
Sarah Shull (Slavic)

Rudra Sil (Political Science)
Jennifer Wilder (Slavic)

Mellon Summer Language Training Grants for 1993

Evgeny Bershtein (Slavic)
Jo Ann Conrad (Near East Studies)
David Engerman (History).

1993 Mellon Fellowships for Graduate Students in Slavic and East European Studies

A grant supplement from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation allowed the Center to offer fellowship support to advanced Berkeley graduate students in the field for 1993-94. The students who received fellowships under this special program were the following:

Dissertation Travel Grants

Sarah Banks (Comparative Literature)
Tomasz Grabowski (Political Science)
Marcia Levenson (Geography)
Mirjana Stevanovic (Anthropology)

Dissertation Write-up Grants

Marc Garcelon (Sociology)
Page Herrlinger (History)

Dissertation Research Fellowship

Sarah Cover (History)
Arthur McKee (History)
David Powelstock (Slavic)
Christopher Putney (Slavic)
Mary Rees (Slavic)
David Rogers (History)
Silvia Tomaskova (Anthropology).

1993-94 Berkeley-Sanford Program Fellowships and Grants

The following students were awarded summer research/language training and/or dissertation grants by the Berkeley-Stanford Program in Soviet and Post-Soviet Studies for 1993-94:

Tadashi Anno (Political Science)
Peter Blitstein (History)
Joseph Brandt (Political Science)
Heather Carlisle (Geography)
Ted Gerber (Sociology)
Marc Garcelon (Sociology)
Oleg Kharkordin (Political Science)
Barbara Lehmbruch (Political Science)
Corbin Lyday (Political Science)
Nils Muiznieks (Political Science)
Joel Ostrow (Political Science)
Ethan Pollack (History)
Valerie Sperling (Political Science)
Matthew Trail (Political Science)
Lucan Way (Political Science)

New Faces of 1993-94

We welcome the following new graduate students who have come to our attention. Some have already visited the Center and utilized the Reading Room. All students -- graduates and undergraduates -- with an interest in Slavic and/or East European Studies are invited to come to the Center, introduce themselves, and get on our mailing list. We look forward to meeting you!

Patricia Andrews (political science);
Jessica Brandt (Slavic); Adrienne Edgar (History); Katherine Elkins (Comparative Literature); David Engerman (History); Linda Formichelli (Slavic); Genevieve Gerard (History); Laura Gibbs-Wichrowska (Comparative Literature); Cathleen Horner (Political Science); Anne Hruska (Slavic); C. Maranatha Ivanova (Political Science); Brian Kasso (History); Edward Kountz (Journalism); Andrew Lynch (Political Science); Ann Marsh (Slavic); Julie Near (Anthropology); Ethan Pollack (History); Jennifer Wilder (Slavic).

A special welcome is extended to Ashot Mkrtchyan, incoming graduate student from Armenia. Ashot is enrolled in the Department of Industrial Engineering and Operations Research. Partial support for Ashot has been provided by the United States Information Agency under the auspices of the Freedom Support Act, through a grant from NAESA: Association of International Educators.

Other Awards, Fellowships, and Appointments

Howard Allen (Political Science) and Rudra Sil (Political Science) have been awarded Simpson Fellowships for academic year 1993-94.

Shari Cohen (Political Science) enters academic year 1993-94 with a well-deserved Dissertation Fellowship in East European Studies from the American Council of Learned Societies.

Gavin Helf (Political Science) will be Visiting Professor of Political Science at Notre Dame University in 1993-94. He recently co-authored an article with Jeffrey W. Hahn, Old Dogs and New Tricks: Party Elites in the Russian Regional Elections of 1990, Slavic Review 51.3, 1992.

Kathryn Hendley (Political Science) has accepted an offer from University of Wisconsin, Madison. She has a tenure-track position as Assistant Professor, jointly in the Law School and the Department of Political Science.

Oleg Kharkordin (Political Science) has been awarded a two-year full research fellowship from the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation.

Clay Moltz, who received his Ph.D. in Political Science in 1989, has been named Senior Researcher and Assistant Director of the Program for Non-proliferation Studies at the Monterey Institute of International Studies.

Nils Mulznleks (Political Science) was awarded an IREX postdoctoral fellowship for a one-year residency at the IREX Baltic Center in Riga. He is conducting research on ethnic relations in post-Soviet Latvia.

William Nickell (Slavic) spent two months in Bulgaria on an IREX Language Training Grant this summer. He will be back to help teach Bulgarian in the Slavic Department.

Susan Overdorf (Political Science) has been awarded a Predissertation Fellowship by the Center for German and European Studies.

Ruth Rischin (Slavic) presented a paper at The First International Congress on the Interaction of Cultures: the Bible and East Slavic Culture in the XI-XX Centuries. Her contribution concerned F. I. Kogan (1891-1974), Translator of the psalms. Dr. Rischin has provided a brief report of the conference elsewhere in this Newsletter. Her participation was made possible by grants from the Center and from the Jewish Community Endowment Fund.

David Schneider (Music) received an IREX grant in 1992 for Individual Advanced Research in Central Europe. He has spent almost a year in Budapest, at the Bartok Archives. His project is entitled, "Bela Bartok 1926-1930: A Contextual Study of the First and Second Piano Concertos."

Andrew Schwartz (Political Science) has been conducting research in the Czech and Slovak Republics and Hungary, funded by an IREX Individual Advanced Research Grant. His research presents a comparative study of privatization in Central Europe.

David Shengold (Slavic) will be Visiting Professor of Russian at Williams College in 1993-94. His article, From the Other Shore: Aleksandr Herzen on James Buchanan, appeared in the Winter 1992 issue of Slavic Review.

Kathleen "Kelly" Smith (Political Science) has been appointed Assistant Professor of Government at Hamilton College. She began teaching there in August.

Stephen Thaman (law) was based at the Institute of State and Law in Moscow for ten months, supported by an IREX Individual Advanced Research Grant. His research focusses on criminal justice reform in the Russian republic, specifically, changes since the August 1991 coup attempt.

Veljko Vujacic (sociology) received a Woodrow Wilson Center grant for the summer of 1993 and spent one month in Washington, doing archival research for his dissertation. He also was awarded an IGCC fellowship for 1993-94.

Robert Wessling (Slavic) has been studying Polish at Warsaw University since the spring of this year. He was funded by an IREX Language Training Grant.

Illustration by Anne Hawkins

Calendar of Events

Center Current Events and Message Number: For up-to-date information on Center events, please call the Center at 510/ 642-3230. Even if no one is available to help you, you can stay on the line and listen to a recorded listing of events that is updated every Friday afternoon.

Wednesday, September 15

BROWN BAG LUNCH: Tea Petrin, Department of Economics, University of Ljubljana will speak on the topic, Can the Government Act as an Agent of Change: the Slovenian Experience. Conference Room, 270 Stephens Hall; noon.

Wednesday September 15

PUBLIC LECTURE: Pal Tar, Ambassador of the Republic of Hungary to the United States. Rebuilding a Nation: Hungary's Search for Success. The Commonwealth Club of California, 595 Market Street. 5:30 pm $7-10. Reservations are recommended: 415/ 434-5112. Co-sponsored by The World Affairs Council, the Commonwealth Club of California, and the Hungarian-American Chamber of Commerce.

Friday, September 17

FILMS: Serbian Epics (Pawell Pawlikoski, UK, 1992). A mordant portrait of Dr. Radovan Karadjic, leader of the Bosnian Serbs. What Karadjic must have regarded as a propaganda exercise when he granted Pawlikoski access turns into a display of macho arrogance. (In English and Serbo-Croatian with English subtitles.) 7:30 pm. The evening's second screening features Videogram of a Revolution (Harun Farocki, Andrei Ujica, Germany, 1992.) A unique, close-up recreation of the atmosphere surrounding the fall of Ceaucescu, the film focuses on the five days between the dictator's last speech and his execution. (In German with English subtitles.) 8:45 pm. Both films are shown as part of the "Human Rights Watch Film Festival" at the Pacific Film Archive, 2625 Durant Avenue, $5.50 for one / $7.00 for double bills. For ticket information, please phone 510/ 642-1412.

Sunday, September 19

PUBLIC LECTURE: William C. Potter, Director, Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies, Monterey Institute of International Studies, speaks on Nuclear Threats from the Former Soviet Union. World Affairs Council, Peninsula program. This lecture will be held at a private estate in Woodside; map and directions mailed upon reservation. $12. 2:30 pm, Registration; 3:00 pm, Program. For details, call 415/ 982-2541.

Tuesday, September 21

STUDY ABROAD INFORMATION MEETING:

Berkeley Programs for Study Abroad will discuss the year abroad program in Hungary at 9:00 am in the Slavic Center Conference Room, 270 Stephens Hall. For more information, contact Scott McElhinney at 510/ 642-1356.

Wednesday, September 22

BROWN BAG LUNCH: James Chavin, Ph.D. candidate, Department of Political Science, will discuss his experiences in Central Asia over the past year, in a talk entitled, International Aid in Central Asia: Democracy-Building in the Field. Conference Room, 270 Stephens Hall; noon.

Wednesday, September 29

BROWN BAG LUNCH: Edward Walker, Executive Director, Berkeley-Stanford Program in Soviet and Post-Soviet Studies, will address The Russian Constitution and the Federation Question. Conference Room, 270 Stephens Hall; noon.

(begins) Wednesday, September 29

STUDY GROUP SERIES: The Balkan Legacy:

Understanding the Former Yugoslavia, sponsored by the World Affairs Council. Registration required in advance. For further information on the Study Group, contact Anne Boyd at the Council's offices: 415/ 982-2541.

Thursday, September 30

ANNUAL SLAVIC CENTER FALL RECEPTION:

Join the faculty and staff of the Center for this annual gathering of students, scholars, and friends of the Center. Entertainment by Westwind International Folk Ensemble. 4:00 - 6:00pm. Alumni House Lounge, campus.

Wednesday, October 6

BROWN BAG LUNCH: Peter Krupnikov, Professor of History, University of Riga, will speak on the topic, The Baltics in the 20th Century. Conference Room, 270 Stephens; noon. In German with English translation.

Thursday, October 14

OPERA: The Makropulos Case, by Leos Janacek. Begins its series of performances by the San Francisco Opera, War Memorial Opera House. Box Office: 415/ 864-3330, 10:00 am-6:00 pm, Monday through Saturday.

Tuesday, October 19

FILM: The Scorpion's Gardens [Sady Skorpionia] (Oleg Kovalov, USSR, 1991). This fascinating compilation film presents a wide range of footage from the twenties through the fifties, newly retrieved from Soviet archives: for example, never-before seen images of the Korean War and the invasion of Hungary are intercut with shots of the 1957 Moscow Film Festival. Alongside the irreverent fun are sequences (such as Sergei Eisenstein on his deathbed) which offer chilling reminders of how effectively Stalinism moved to crush the avant-garde and replace it with kitsch (Peter Scarlet, SF Intl Film Festival). (In Russian with English subtitles). 7:30 pm. This film continues the "Alternative Visions" series at the Pacific Film Archive (see notes for September 17).

Wednesday, November 3

PUBLIC LECTURE: Branko Horvat, University of California Regents' Lecturer. Title: TBA. Alumni House Lounge; 4:00 pm.

Tuesday, November 9

INFORMATION MEETING: Dr. Rod Sangster, Regional Director for Statewide Education Abroad Programs, Russia, will discuss the new exchange program in Moscow for undergrads and grads. Conference Room, 270 Stephens Hall; 3:45 pm.

Illustration by Mary Kay Stuvland for, The Rope with the Three Knots.

Tuesday, November 23

OPERA: The Queen of Spades, by Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky, begins its series of performances by the San Francisco Opera at the War Memorial Opera House. Box Office: 415/ 864-3330, 10:00 am-6:00 pm, Monday through Saturday.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTSLANGUAGE TEACHING METHODOLOGY WORKSHOPS for 1993-94

Berkeley's Title VI Centers will co-sponsor four language teacher training workshops in the fall semester. The first was held on Thurs., Sept. 2 at Alumni House. Professor Robert Di Donato spoke on "1001 Ideas for the Interactive Foreign Language Classroom." Professor Claire Kramsch, in charge of the workshops program, tells us that the other three fall programs will cover "Universals and Particulars in Foreign Language Teaching, "How to Read - How to Teach Literary Texts," and "Testing." If you have ideas for speakers, call Prof. Kramsch in the Department of German, 510/642-2002.

February 12, 1994

IN-SERVICE WORKSHOP FOR TEACHERS: The newly independent states of Central Asia will be the topic at a workshop that our Center will offer jointly with UC Berkeley's Center for Middle Eastern Studies. It will be held at the World Affairs Council, 312 Sutter St., San Francisco. We will be looking at the history, geography and peoples of this fascinating area, formerly the heartland of Genghis Khan's empire, later the "shatter zone" where empires collided and the European powers' Great Game was played. The workshop is chiefly planned for high school teachers, but teachers at all levels will find it useful. For further information, watch our next Newsletter, or, after 01/01/94, call Beth Shepard at the Center, 510/642-5245, or Carol Marquis at the World Affairs Council, 415/982-3263.

April 15-17, 1994

TEACHERS CONFERENCE: The Center's annual weekend conference will be held on April 15-17, 1994, at the Alumni House on campus. The conference will focus on aspects of the broad changes currently underway in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union. Speakers will include UC Berkeley faculty and visiting specialists. Program information will be available in early February.

Associates of the Slavic Center ♦ News

The Center acknowledges with sincere appreciation the following individuals who have contributed to the annual giving program, the Associates of the Slavic Center, between March 1, 1993, and August 15, 1993. Financial support from the Associates is vital to our program of research, training, and extracurricular activities. We would like to thank all members of ASC for their generous assistance.

(♦ Signifies recent gift of continuing membership.)

CENTER CIRCLE

- ♦ Richard Castile
- ♦ Enid M. Emerson
- ♦ Bettye Ferguson
- ♦ Elsa Miller

BENEFACTORS

- ♦ Anonymous
- ♦ Anonymous
- Jean D. Schroeder

SPONSORS

- ♦ Anthony Arnold
- Sunni Bloland
- Kenneth and Liam Gray
- ♦ Mary Louise Green
- ♦ Arthur and Ann Hackworth
- ♦ Samuel M. Harrell
- ♦ Robert M. and Yasuko Ikeda
- ♦ Anonymous
- ♦ James Lyons
- Donald and Diane Manhard
- Mr. and Mrs. Glen T. Mitchell
- ♦ Christine Zohar Olson
- ♦ Anonymous
- ♦ Anonymous

MEMBERS

- ♦ Melissa Chapin
- Krystyna Chciuk
- ♦ Anonymous
- Rosamond Martindale Davis
- ♦ John Forman
- Esther Goldberg
- ♦ Krista Hanson
- Virginia-Jane Harris
- L. G. Hermann
- ♦ Francis U. Macy
- Katharine M. Morton
- Anita Navon
- Tomasz Potworowski
- Paul Rosenthal
- Anonymous
- Steven V. and Ana Maria Schnier
- Gregory and Sheila Sheehan
- D. R. Stade
- (gifted, Jan, 1993)
- Cecelia Strickland
- Mary Sundric
- Bruce Tingwall
- ♦ Anonymous
- ♦ Thomas and Amy Worth

Hungarian Ambassador to make Special Presentation for Center Circle, Benefactor & Sponsor members of the Slavic Center Associates.

An invitation-only lecture will be delivered by the Honorable Pal Tar, Ambassador of the Republic of Hungary to the United States. The late afternoon program is hosted by the Slavic Center for the "Sponsor," "Benefactor," and "Center Circle" Associates. The Ambassador's talk, entitled, Hungary's Young Democracy: Achievements, Challenges, and Prospects, will be followed by a question and answer session, and a special wine and cheese reception in honor of the Ambassador. The event is scheduled for Thursday, September 16 in the Lounge of the Woman's Faculty Club. Associates who have questions regarding the program are encouraged to telephone Mary Kay Stuvland at either 510/643-6205 or 642-9991.

Illustration by Mary Kay Stuvland for, The Rope with Three Knots

Associates of the Slavic Center

Send your check, made payable to the Regents of the University of California, to the Center for Slavic and East European Studies, 361 Stephens Hall, University of California, Berkeley, CA 94720, Attn: ASC.

Name(s) _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Home Phone _____

Business Phone _____

If your employer has a matching gift program, please print name of corporation below.

☐ I have made a contribution but wish to remain anonymous.

It is the policy of the University of California, Berkeley, and the University of California, Berkeley Foundation, that a portion of gifts and/or income therefrom is used to defray the costs of raising and administering the funds.

Donations are tax deductible to the extent authorized by law.

Associate Membership: Below is a listing of the categories of membership within the Associates of the Slavic Center program. For those of you who are not yet members, we encourage you to join. We believe you will enjoy the stimulating programs; even when you cannot participate as often as you might wish, your continuing contribution is a very real support for the Center's mission and goals.

Members ($50 to $100). Members of ASC regularly receive Newsletter "Updates" and special mailings to notify them of last-minute events and special activities, such as cultural performances and major conferences.

Sponsors ($100-up). ASC Sponsors also receive a uniquely designed ceramic mug, promoting Slavic and East European Studies at Berkeley. They also receive invitations to special informal evening talks on campus featuring guest speakers from the faculty as well as visiting scholars.

Benefactors ($500-up). ASC Benefactors will also be our guests at the dinner and evening programs associated with our annual conferences, such as the annual Berkeley-Stanford Conference in the spring. Invitations will be offered, as well, to Benefactors' Meetings. Benefactors will also receive complimentary copies of the books published by the Center on major developments in the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe.

Center Circle ($1,000-up). In addition to enjoying the above-mentioned benefits, donors within the Center Circle will also become Robert Gordon Sproul Associates of the University. As such, they are invited to the Chancellor's annual black tie banquet and to luncheons before the major football games. They also receive membership in the Faculty Club and twenty other worldwide faculty clubs. The names of donors of $1,000 or more appear in the Annual Report of Private Giving.

The Center is extremely grateful to those Associates who have been able to respond to-date to our Special Appeal for supplementary contributions toward the Slavic Center Endowment. December 31, 1993, is the cutoff date for the Mellon Foundation Challenge Grant by which we are able to secure one dollar from Mellon for every three we raise. Thus, every contribution toward our Endowment made before the end of the year is a significant investment in the Center. To all our "investors," many thanks.

Suzanne Adams
Carlo E. and
Eleanor Anderson

Richard and Dianne
Bennett
Anonymous
Bettye Ferguson
Ralph Fisher
James and
Katherine Goldgeier
Iris Greenberg-Smith
Richard and
Mary Hafner
Nancy Clarke Hayes
Marjorie Koenig
William and Maka Langfeld

Jane and Stephanie McCoy
Kathryn McCrodden
Rozanne Noon
George Ponomareff
Clara Pryor
Michael P. Richards
Warren and Virginia Simms
Edith Smith
Anonymous
Alexander and Dorothy
Vucinich
Raymond and Virginia
Wakerling
Wendy Webster

Course Listings

Listed below are core faculty offerings and selected area-related courses for Fall, 1993.

Department No.	Title	Instructor
Anthropology 2	Introduction to Archaeology	Tringham
Anthropology 230	Special Topics: Mediterranean Archaeology	Tringham
Comp Lit 170/2	Literature and Democracy	Ruttenburg
Comp Lit 223	Literary Invention of Common People	Ruttenburg
Dramatic Art 111	Advanced Acting: Michael Chekhov Technique	Gordon
Economics 115	World Economy in the 20th Century	Eichengreen
Economics 215C	Transition to a Market Economy	Horvat
Geography 162	The Former Soviet Union	Hooson
Geography 189	History of Geographical Thought	Hooson
Geography 252	Understanding Agrarian Transitions	Watts
History 101	Building a New Society in Late Modern Europe	Cover
History 101	Europe in the Great War and Interwar Years	McKee
History 103B	Imperial Russia & the Soviet Union	Riasanovsky
History 158C	Modern Europe: 1914 to Present	Adamthwaite
History 161	Emergence of the Modern Industrial State	Abrams
History 171A	Russia to Peter the Great	Riasanovsky
History 172	Russian Intellectual History	Paperno
IAS 1	East Europe & USSR: Introduction	Staff
Law 261 (non Boalt)	International Law	Caron
Law 263	International Human Rights	Newman
Poli Sci 2	Introduction to Comparative Politics	Jowitt
Poli Sci 141A	Soviet Politics	Bahry
Poli Sci 223	The Cold War and Its Aftermath	Weber
*Slavic 28A	Introductory Bulgarian	TBA
Slavic 38	Authority, Conformity, Subversion	Frick
Slavic 45	19th-Century Russian Literature	Matich
Slavic 134E	Chekhov	McLean
Slavic 138	Russian & Soviet Film: Eisenstein	Nesbet
East European 1	Elementary Hungarian	Mihalik
East European 100	Hungarian Readings	Mihalik
Sociology 101A	Sociological Theory	Burawoy
Sociology 272C	Comparative & Historical Methods	Bonnell
Sociology 280C	Political Sociology	Burawoy

*Selected examples from the Department for Slavic Languages & Literatures.

Faculty and Scholar News: Recent Publications

The following is a pick of recent publications authored by Center-affiliated faculty and scholars:

Selected Topics in Soviet Ethnopolitics.

Berkeley-Stanford Program in Soviet and Post-Soviet Studies, University of California, Berkeley, 1992.

Breslauer, George W. "In Defense of Sovietology," Post-Soviet Affairs 3(3):197-238, 1992.

Burawoy, Michael. "The Economic Basis of Russia's Political Crisis," New Left Review 198:49-70, 1993.

----. "The End of Sovietology and the Renaissance of Modernization Theory," Contemporary Sociology 21(6):774-785, 1992.

Burawoy, Michael, and Pavel Krotov. "The Rise of Merchant Capital: Monopoly, Barter, and Enterprise Politics in the Vorkuta Coal Industry," Harriman Institute Forum 6(4) 1992.

----. "The Soviet Transition from Socialism to Capitalism: Worker Control and Economic Bargaining in the Wood Industry," American Sociological Review 57(1):16-38, 1992.

Dallin, Alexander, ed. Political Parties in Russia. Berkeley-Stanford Program in Soviet and Post-Soviet Studies, University of California, Berkeley, 1993.

Gordon, Mel. Russian Sound Creation; the Museum of the Future. In The Wireless Imagination. MIT, 1992.

----, and Alma Law. Meyerhold, Eisenstein, and Biomechanics. McFarland, 1993.

Hammel, Eugene A. "Demography and the Roots of the Yugoslav Civil War." Anthropology Today 9:4-9, 1993.

----. The Yugoslav Labyrinth. In Crisis in the Balkans. Berkeley: University of California, Institute of International Studies, 1993. pp. 1-33.

Hasegawa, Tsuyoshi, Jonathan Haslam, and Andrew C. Kuchins, eds. Russia and Japan: an Unresolved Dilemma between Distant Neighbors. Berkeley-Stanford Program in Soviet and Post-Soviet Studies, University of California. Berkeley: International and Area Studies Research Series, No. 87, 1993.

Hawkins, Anne, and Mary Kay Stuvland, compilers. Cheese and Honey: Folk-tale Selections from the Slavic Center. Center for Slavic and East European Studies, University of California, Berkeley, 1992.

Hooson, David, ed. National Identity and Geography. Blackwell Publications. In press, 1993.

Jowitt, Kenneth T. New World Disorder: The Leninist Extinction. University of California Press, 1992.

Lapidus, Gail. Political Development in Russia: the First Year. In Dick Clark, ed., Russia, Ukraine and the US Response. The Aspen Institute, 1993.

----. The Impact of Perestroika on the National Question. In Gail Lapidus, Victor Zaslavsky and Philip Goldman, eds., From Union to Commonwealth: Nationalism and Separatism in the Soviet Republics. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1992.

Malia, Martin. "The Soft Coup," The New Republic, April 19, 1993. pp. 18-20.

Naiman, Eric. Ne greshno li eto zhelanie? Nakanune, failure and the psychopoetics of literary evolution. In Psychopoetik. Wiener Slawistischer Almanach, Sonderband 31, 1992.

Naiman, Eric, and Anne Nesbet. "Formy vremeni v 'Formakh vremeni...': Khronosomy khronotopa." Novoe literaturnoe obozrenie 2, 1993.

Nesbet, Anne, and Eric Naiman. "Mise en

Abime: Platonov, Zolia i Poetika Truda," Revue des Etudes Slaves 64(4), 1992.

Nichols, Johanna. "Egativity and Linguistic Geography," Australian Journal of Linguistics 13:1, 1993.

----. Stereotyping Interethnic Communication: the Siberian Native in Soviet Literature. In G. Diment and Y. Slezkine, eds. Between Heaven and Hell: The Myth of Siberia in Russian Culture. New York: St. Martin's Press, 1993. pp. 185-214.

----. The Caucasus as a Linguistic Area, 1: Personal Pronouns. In B. G. Hewitt, ed., Caucasian Perspectives. London: Lincom Europa. 1992.

Schamschula, Walter. "The Igor Tale from its Czech to its Gaelic connection," California Slavic Studies No. 15, 1993.

Slezkine, Yuri. "From Savages to Citizens: The Cultural Revolution in the Soviet Far North, 1928-1938." Slavic Review 51(1):52-76, 1992.

Slezkine, Yuri, and G. Diment, eds. Between Heaven and Hell: The Myth of Siberia in Russian Culture. New York: St. Martin's Press, 1993.

Tringham, Ruth, et al. "Excavations at Opovo 1985-87: Socio-economic Change in the Balkan Neolithic," Journal of Field Archaeology 19(3):351-386, 1992.

Urbanic, Allan, compiler and editor. "Pushkin Studies in the West: 1987-1991: a Bibliography," The Pushkin Journal 1(1):91-118, 1993.

Ward, Benjamin N. On Saving the Yugoslavs. In Crisis in the Balkans. Berkeley: University of California, Institute of International Studies, 1993. pp. 43-50.

Zelnik, Reginald. "Not the Juice but the Juicer: on No-longer Existing Socialism and Lemonade," Contention, summer 1993.

Left: illustration by Lisa Bryant for, The Girl and the Moon Man: A Chukchi Folk Tale.

Fellowships and Other Opportunities

Slavic Center Travel Grants

The Center's US Department of Education Title VI grant provides limited travel support for Center-affiliated graduate students and faculty. Awards of up to $300 are made to those presenting a paper at a meeting of a recognized scholarly organization. Awards are made on a first-come, first-serve basis. To apply, call Beth Shepard at 510/ 642-5245 (mornings).

American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS)

ACLS administers grants for East European Studies. Except as noted, they are intended for study in the US; applicants must be citizens or permanent residents of the United States.

✱ Postdoctoral Research Fellowships in East European Studies. Fellowship support for a period of at least six consecutive months of full-time research. $30,000 maximum. Deadline: December 1, 1993.

✱ Advanced Graduate Training Fellowships in East European Studies. For graduate students currently enrolled in a degree program who will have completed at least two academic years of work toward the doctorate by June 30, 1994. Stipend up to $15,000 plus expenses. Deadline: December 1, 1993.

✱ Dissertation Fellowships in East European Studies. An academic year of support for dissertation research or writing to be undertaken outside of East Europe. $15,000 maximum stipend plus expenses. Deadline: December 1, 1993.

✱ Graduate Student East European Travel Grants for Summer 1994. For graduate students within a Ph.D. program who will have competed at least one year of full-time graduate study by June 1, 1994, and need field experience to formulate a research program for a dissertation on East Europe. $2,500 maximum. Deadline: March 1, 1994.

✱ East European Individual Language Training Grants. For first- or second-year summer study of any East European language (not languages of the CIS) in the United States. Applicants must have a four-year college degree at minimum; graduate students and postdoctoral scholars are eligible. $2,000-2,500. Deadline March 1, 1994.

✱ ACLS/JCEE offers grants in support of research conferences in any discipline of the humanities or social sciences, dealing with Albania, Bulgaria, the eastern part of Germany, Hungary, Poland, Romania, and/or the successor states of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia. Deadline: October 15, 1993.

Application forms for the above grants must be requested in writing from the Office of Fellowships and Grants, American Council of Learned Societies, 228 East 45th Street, New York NY 10017-3398. No part of the inquiry or application procedure may be conducted by fax.

The SSRC and ACLS jointly sponsor area programs for social scientists and humanists (see SSRC below).

The US Information Agency invites applications for Fulbright Teacher Exchange Program from university and college faculty and secondary and elementary school teachers interested in working abroad during the 1994-95 academic year. Opportunities are available in Belarus, Bulgaria, the Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Romania, Russia, the Slovak Republic, and Ukraine. Deadline: October 15, 1993. Fulbright Teacher Exchange Program, 600 Maryland Avenue, SW, Rm. 142, Washington DC 20024; (800) 726-0479.

Hokkaido University, Slavic Research Center - Foreign Visiting Fellowship Program. Foreign specialists in Slavic affairs, who are interested in spending ten months at the Center during academic year of 1995-96 are invited to submit applications to this program. Materials available at CSEES, Stephens Hall, or write: Head, Foreign Visiting Fellowship Program; Slavic Research Ctr., Hokkaido University, Kita-9, Nishi-7, Kita-ku, Sapporo 060, Japan. Tel 011-716-2111, ext. 3156; Fax 011-709-9283.

Harvard Academy for International and Area Studies - Fellowships for Social Scientists in Area Studies. Open to advanced doctoral candidates (Ph.D. or comparable professional school degree) or recent recipients. Deadline: October 15, 1993. Contact: The Academy Scholars Program, Center for International Affairs, 603 Coolidge Hall, 1737 Cambridge Street, Cambridge, MA 02138. Tel (617) 495-2137 or (617) 495-9498.

Institute of International Education (IIE)

✱ Fulbright Grant Opportunities for Graduate Study in East Central Europe and the Baltics, 1994-95. Well-qualified graduate students in all fields can apply. US citizenship required. Deadline: October 31, 1993.

✱ Fulbright-Hays Doctoral Dissertation Abroad. Fellowships for dissertation research. Deadline: October 31, 1993. Apply for either program through Fulbright Program Adviser in the Graduate Fellowship Office.

✱ Fellowships for Professional Development, East Central Europe. For US citizens enrolled in graduate or professional schools to spend some months in East Central Europe. Deadline: October 1, 1993. Professional Development Fellowships, US Student Programs, IIE, 809 United Nations Plaza, New York NY 10017. Tel (212) 984-5326.

International Research & Exchanges Board (IREX). Below are deadlines for program for 1994-95.

✱ Individual Advanced Research Opportunities (Baltic States; Central and Eastern Europe; Mongolia; Newly Independent States): November 1, 1993.

✱ On-site Language Training (Baltic States; Central and Eastern Europe; Newly Independent States): November 1, 1993.

✱ Research Residencies (Baltic States; Southeastern Europe; Newly Independent States; Slovakia): November 1, 1993.

✱ Bulgarian Studies Seminar: November 1, 1990.

✱ Short-Term Travel Grants (Baltic States; Central and Eastern Europe; Mongolia; Newly Independent States): October 1, 1993; February 1, 1994; June 1, 1994.

✱ Summer Programs for Language Instructors (Russia; Ukraine): January 15, 1993. Special Projects: TBA. IREX, 1616 H Street, N.W., Washington DC 20006; Tel (202) 628-8188; Fax (202) 628-8189.

Kennan Institute (see Woodrow Wilson Center, page 15)

The National Council for Soviet and East European Research.

The Council invites proposals for research funding for 1994. Applications must be in the form of institutional proposals for research contracts, submitted by principal investigators who have Ph.D.'s or equivalent degree of maturity and relevant professional employment. Guidelines and applications obtainable from The National Council for Soviet and East European Research, 1755 Massachusetts Avenue, Suite 304, Washington DC 20036; Tel (202) 387-0168.

Social Science Research Council (SSRC)

✳ SSRC-MacArthur Foundation Fellowships on Peace and Security in a Changing World. Fellows are required to undertake training that adds a new competence to the disciplinary skills they already have. Dissertation and Postdoctoral Fellowships. Deadline: Dec. 1, 1993.

✳ International Peace and Security 1993-94 Visiting Scholar Fellowship Competition. Three- to six-month fellowships for scholars, journalists, public servants, lawyers, and others to do research in the US on topics in international peace and security. Open to nationals from Central and Eastern Europe and non-Russian successor states of the USSR. Deadline: September 15, 1993.

SSRC-administered Grants for Study of the Soviet Union and Its Successor States (for US citizens):

✳ Postdoctoral Research Fellowships. Fellowship stipend to provide three years of summer support plus one semester free of teaching. $27,000. Deadline: December 1, 1993.

✳ Graduate Training Fellowships. For graduate students currently enrolled in a degree program who will have completed at least two academic years of work toward the doctorate by June 30, 1994. Stipend up to $15,000. Deadline: December 1, 1993.

✳ Dissertation Fellowships. An academic year of support for dissertation writeup. $15,000 maximum. Deadline: December 1, 1993. For further information: Social Science Research Council, 605 Third Avenue, NYC 10158; Tel (212) 661-0280; Fax (212) 370-7896.

United States Institute of Peace. The Jennings Randolph Program for International Peace provides fellowships to scholars, professionals, and doctoral students who wish to carry out original research that focusses on violent international conflicts, ways to resolve or prevent them, and the elements of peace. Fellows typically work at the Institute; doctoral students (Peace Scholars) are based at their universities. Deadlines: October 15 for Fellows; November 15 for Peace Scholars. Contact: Jennings Randolph Program for International Peace, US Institute of Peace, 1550 M Street, NW, Suite 700, Washington DC 20005-1708; Tel (202) 429-3886; Fax (202) 429-6063.

The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars/Kennan Institute for Advanced Russian Studies sponsors advanced research on Russia and the successor states to the Soviet Union through residential fellowships, research scholarships, and short-term grants. Qualified individuals from any country are eligible for appointment. Research Scholarships and Short-Term Grants are also offered to scholars in East European Studies.

✳ Woodrow Wilson Center Fellowships (4-10 months' duration). Deadline: October 1, 1993.

✳ Kennan Institute Research Scholarships (3-9 months' duration). Deadline: October 1, 1993.

✳ Kennan Institute Short-term Grants (up to one month's duration). Deadlines: December 1, 1993; March 1, June 1, and September 1, 1994.

For information and application materials: Fellowships and Grants, The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars/Kennan Institute, 370 L'Enfant Promenade, S.W., Suite 704 SI MRC 930, Washington DC 20024-2518; Tel (202) 287-3400; Fax (202) 287-3772. Bitnet: wwcem116@sivm; Internet: wwcem116@sivm.si.edu (Applications submitted by fax will not be considered.) Requests concerning East European Studies should be directed to John R. Lampe, Director; East European Studies; The Woodrow Wilson International Center (address as given).

BSP Welcome, continued from page 1

This past summer, we were not entirely idle. On May 26, 1993, we held a workshop at Berkeley to coordinate plans for the publication of a book edited by Gail W. Lapidus and Corbin Lyday. The book is tentatively entitled The New Russia, with contributions by George W. Breslauer, Alexander Dallin, Richard Ericson, David Holloway, Andrei Kortunov, Gail W. Lapidus, Michael McFaul, and Lilia Shevtsova. On July 20, we hosted a talk by Dr. Mikhail Matskovsky, General Director of the International Center for Human Values in Moscow. Dr. Matskovsky, an expert on family life and social values in Russia and the former Soviet Union, discussed the results of some of his Institute's recent survey research on the social and moral consequences of democratization and marketization in post-Soviet Russia.

I am very pleased to report that this semester we will be hosting Professor Donna Bahry of UC Davis as a Visiting Professor in Political Science. Professor Bahry is a specialist on the regional political economy of the former Soviet Union. She will teach a course titled, "The Dynamics of Soviet and Post-Soviet Politics," and will lead an informal graduate seminar at 4pm on Thursdays that will review and analyze a number of ongoing survey research projects in Russia and the other successor states. Lucan Way is this year's BSP Student Coordinator. He is in charge of arranging the Graduate Student seminars, which we have currently scheduled for Wednesdays at 4pm..

Finally, BSP, the Slavic Center, and CREES will be hosting various guest lecturers during the fall term. In addition to those making brown bag presentations, we hope to have Michael Swafford, Steve Grant, Ivan Szelenyi, and Russell Dalton, among others, make presentations as part of Donna Bahry's seminar. We also are planning a conference on ethnic relations within Russia for the middle of November. As our plans get firmed up, we will keep the BSP community informed. Please contact our office about getting on our mailing list and receiving a copy of our newsletter, Khronika. For those members of the BSP community I have yet to meet, please stop by at Stephens Hall. It is indeed a pleasure to be here, and I look forward to a fun and exciting academic year. - NW

PUBLICATIONS AVAILABLE FOR SALE

Slavic Center Publications - now offered at half price

DILEMMAS OF TRANSITION in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, George W. Breslauer, editor, 1991.

Contributing authors include, among others, George W. Breslauer, Gregory Freidin, Gregory Grossman, Gail Kligman, Gail W. Lapidus, and Laura D'Andrea Tyson.

"Tyson provides an excellent survey of the complex political and economic forces complicating the transition to market economies in eastern Europe and the Soviet Union."

"...valuable reading for those seeking well informed, concise discussions of the transformations that are occurring in eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union." (Gordon B. Smith, Slavic Review 51(4):858-859, 1992)

softcover, 166 pages. $6.50

SOVIET POLICY IN AFRICA from the Old to the New Thinking, George W. Breslauer, editor, 1992.

Contributors: David E. Albright, George W. Breslauer, W. Raymond Duncan, S. Neil MacFarlane, Philip Nel, and Richard B. Remnek. softcover, 271 pages. $ 9.75

THE RUSSIAN ORTHODOX CHURCH: A Preliminary Survey of Library Materials at the University of California, Berkeley.

Compiled by Miranda Beaven Remnek and Allan Urbanic, 1990. $5.00

CHEESE & HONEY. Folk Tale Selections from the Slavic

Center. Compiled by Anne Hawkins and Mary Kay Stuvland, 1992. softcover, 28 pages. $6.50 (publication price)

Above books can be ordered directly from the Center for Slavic and East European Studies. PREPAID ORDERS ONLY/NO RETURNS. Checks payable to UC Regents. Postage and handling is $2.00 for first volume and $1.00 for each additional. CA residents must add sales tax. ASC MEMBERS receive 25% off. Special rates for 5 or more copies

Center for Slavic and East European Studies
International and Area Studies

361 Stephens Hall
University of California
Berkeley, CA 94720 USA
IV13

Address correction requested

Publications of the Berkeley-Stanford Program in Soviet and Post-Soviet Studies and International and Area Studies

RUSSIA AND JAPAN: An Unresolved Dilemma between Distant Neighbors. T. Hasegawa, J. Haslam, and A. Kuchins, editors, 1993. Scholars examine the linkages between Soviet and Russian domestic developments and international relations in the Asia-Pacific region. softcover, 460 pages, $26.50.

POLITICAL PARTIES IN RUSSIA. Alexander Dallin, editor, 1993. American and Russian scholars discuss party formation in Russia and political pluralism in post-communist Russian society, and prospects for multi-party democracy. softcover, 102 pages, $10.95.

SELECTED TOPICS IN SOVIET ETHNOPOLITICS, 1992. An analysis of the ethnic and multinational problems that contributed to the disintegration of the Soviet Union. softcover, 124 pgs, $9.50.

Above books can be ordered from the IAS Publications Office, 2223 Fulton Street, RM 338, UC Berkeley, Berkeley CA 94720. Tel: 510/642-4065; Fax: 510/643-7062. Prepayment required on all orders of less than $30.00. Make checks payable to UC Regents. CA residents add sales tax.

Publication from the Institute of International Studies, University of California, Berkeley:

CRISIS IN THE BALKANS. Papers by Eugene Hammel, Irwin Wall, and Benjamin Ward, 1993.

On September 16, 1992, a public forum on Yugoslavia was sponsored by the Institute of International Studies and the Center for Slavic and East European Studies at the University of California, Berkeley, resulting in this collection. softcover, 50 pages. $6.95.

Order from IAS Publications; address and information given above

Non-Profit Org
US Postage PAID
Permit No. 1

Orthodox Institute
2400 Ridge Road
Berkeley CA 94709